

Today, in our Science learning, we completed an investigation into how water temperature affects the solubility of different solutes. We used the following: coffee, pepper, salt, sugar, flour and sand. Our solvents were room temperature water and cold water.

We made predictions about the impact on solubility and then made our solutions and collected our results. We used these results to make a conclusion about our findings before answering our Enquiry Question.

